

For sale: 2 million empty homes

Contributed by
Friday, 26 October 2007

The number of vacant homes for sale rose in the third quarter, according to the latest government reading that casts new harsh light on the weakness of the housing market.

The number of vacant homes for sale rose in the third quarter, according to the latest government reading that casts new harsh light on the weakness of the housing market.

Read more at:

http://money.cnn.com/rssclick/2007/10/26/news/economy/vacant_homes/index.htm?section=money_news_economy.